

National Paralegal College

Reasonable Adjustments and Special Considerations Policy

1. Purpose & Scope

The National Paralegal College (NPC) is a trading name of NALP Training Company Limited. It offers both internally developed and certificated courses and fully regulated qualifications, accredited by a Recognised Awarding Organisation to its students, all of which are delivered on a distance learning basis. All of its courses and qualifications are aimed at the Paralegal sector.

The purpose of this policy is to outline the process which must be followed by Students and Centres when making a request for a reasonable adjustment or special consideration and how such a request will be considered by NPC. The process described will ensure that NPC continues to meet its obligations as an Approved Centre of the Ofqual recognised Awarding Organisation, NALP, as well as all applicable Equalities Laws and regulations, in particular the Equalities Act 2010.

2. Data Protection

The information provided will be processed in accordance with the current data protection legislation and regulation. Data will be processed only to ensure that all persons to whom this policy relates act in the best interests of the Students, NPC and the Awarding Organisation, NALP. The information provided will not be used for any other purpose.

Please note that we treat all records of reasonable adjustments and special consideration arrangements in confidence and will not make details available to any other parties, with the exception of sharing this with NALP when in relation to regulated qualifications we offer under our Approved Centre status with them.

3. Definition

In respect of reasonable adjustments NPC takes its policy based on the requirements for all regulated qualifications and applies this to all courses and qualifications it offers, regardless of whether it is regulated or not.

Under Ofqual's Condition of Recognition, Condition G6.1 states:

"Reasonable Adjustments are adjustments made to an assessment for a qualification so as to enable a disabled Learner to demonstrate his or her knowledge, skills and understanding to the levels of attainment required by the specification for that qualification."

Reasonable adjustments therefore help to reduce the effect of a disability or difficulty that places the Student at a significant disadvantage in the assessment situation. Reasonable adjustments made may involve:

- making changes for individuals to the standard assessment arrangements, for example allowing Students extra time to complete the assessment

Reasonable Adjustments & Special Considerations Policy

- adapting assessment materials, such as providing materials in large print or Braille for those with visual impairments
- providing access facilitators during assessment, such as a sign language interpreter or a reader

Where reasonable adjustments are made, these must:

- not affect the integrity of the award
- reflect the current needs of the individual Student
- not give the Student an unfair advantage over other Students
- ensure that examination continues to be valid, reliable and comparable against stated examination criteria.

In respect of special considerations, Ofqual’s Condition of Recognition, Condition G7.1 states:

“Special Consideration is consideration to be given to a Learner who has temporarily experienced:

(a) an illness or injury, or

(b) some other event outside of the Learner’s control, which has had, or is reasonably likely to have had, a material effect on that Learner’s ability to take an assessment or demonstrate his or her level of attainment in an assessment.”

Special considerations are therefore given when unforeseen circumstances prevent the Student from attending or completing their assignments for assessment within the stated timescales, such as temporary illness, injury or bereavement.

4. Reasonable Adjustments – Process for Centres and Students

Students requesting reasonable adjustments must provide NPC with evidence of their specific needs. Where the request is in respect of a regulated qualification, this information and evidence may be shared with the Awarding Organisation.

All requests for reasonable adjustments must be received at NPC at the time of enrolment onto the qualification, due to the assessments for the regulated qualifications and some of the courses offered by NPC being assignment based. This is to ensure that any necessary arrangements have been put into place in advance of any assignments or other assessments being set for the Student and to allow for the provision of additional support or adjustments during the study periods.

Due to the fact that all of NPC’s courses and qualifications are Distance Learning based with the materials being sent electronically to the Students, the types of reasonable adjustments that we can make are limited. The following are examples of conditions which may require reasonable adjustments and what those adjustments may be. Please note that this list is not exhaustive:

Students with Visual Impairment

- Large print or Braille course material
- Extra time allocated for study and assignments
- Allowing readers and/or scribes

Students with Reading, Writing or Learning Difficulties

- Extra time allocated for study and assignments
- Dictation via Audio-cassettes
- Word-processing or transcription software
- Coloured fonts, backgrounds, paper or overlays for course material

Students who have a permanent physical impairment

- Reader, scribe and/or interpreter
- Mechanical/electronic aids or software

NPC qualifications have been designed specifically to be studied via distance learning, therefore, if a Student uses adaptive technology or software, etc. to assist them during their studies, this will normally be allowed. However, all such adjustments made directly by Students must be disclosed to NPC prior to commencement of studies to ensure that this does not provide an unfair advantage to the Student.

Every request for a reasonable adjustment will be considered on a case by case basis by NPC and, where appropriate, the Awarding Organisation. What is reasonable in terms of an adjustment to the assessment will depend on the individual circumstances, cost implications and the practicality and effectiveness of the adjustment.

5. Special Considerations – Process for Centres and Students

Special consideration is given to events or circumstances, beyond the Student's control, which lead to a Student being unable to complete their course or assignment within the given timescales. Examples of events that attract special consideration would be:

- Temporary illness
- Injury to self or an immediate family member
- Bereavement
- Mental health issues

NPC reserves the right to request evidence of the reason given for the special consideration being made so Students should make this available on request.

The following are examples of conditions which may require a special consideration and what adjustments may be made. Please note that this list is not exhaustive:

Services for Students who have a medical condition or temporary injury

- Reader and/or scribe and/or interpreter
- Mechanical/electronic aids or software

Students who suffer a bereavement, temporary illness or mental health issue will be offered an extension to their study or assignment deadline, up to a maximum of an additional 6 months for study or 4 weeks for an assignment. If a Student requires more than 4 weeks additional time to complete an assignment, the original assignment will be withdrawn from them without affecting their record of achievement. They will then be issued a new assignment when they inform us that they are recovered sufficiently to be able to complete this within the usual 4-week period.

All requests for special consideration must be received by NPC at least 1 working day (24 hours) prior to the deadline for submission of assignments for assessment or at least 5 working days prior to the end of the maximum period allowed to complete the qualification or course being taken.

Please note that the requirements for special considerations to be allowed will depend on the qualification or course being studied by the Student. Students must endeavour to inform NPC as soon as they become aware of the possibility of their missing the deadline for completion of the qualification or course work and/or assignments. NPC cannot be held responsible for any missed deadlines where they were not made aware of the circumstances being faced by the Student.

6. Submitting Requests for Reasonable Adjustments or Special Considerations

Students must contact NPC at the time of enrolment to alert us to any Reasonable Adjustments which require to be made. Special Considerations must also be put in writing at least 1 working day (24 hours) prior to the deadline for submission of the assignment for assessment or at least 5 working days prior to the end of the maximum period allowed to complete the qualification or course being taken.

Each request should include the following information:

- The nature of the Student's disability/learning need/reason for special consideration
- Details of the adjustments being requested
- Any supporting evidence or a copy of the evidence.

All requests for reasonable adjustments must be made at the time of enrolment of the Student. Requests for Special Considerations must be made at least 1 working day (24 hours) prior to the deadline for submission of the assignment for assessment, or 5 working days prior to the end of the maximum allowed time to complete the course or qualification.

Please post or email the request for reasonable adjustments or special consideration, for the attention of The Chief Executive.

When we receive the request, where applicable we will pass this on to the Awarding Organisation, otherwise we will consider the matter ourselves. We will always strive to inform the Student of the decision that has been made within 3 working days for reasonable adjustments or within 2 working days for special considerations. If it will take longer than this to make a decision, we will inform the Student and indicate a timescale for the decision.

7. Evidence requirements

Students requiring arrangements for reasonable adjustments should provide NPC with evidence of their learning needs or medical condition. We will ensure that the evidence is current and relevant to the Student who has made the request. Examples of evidence could be a relevant diagnostic report or statement of learning needs or medical condition from appropriately qualified personnel.

Requests for special consideration should be supported by evidence of the temporary illness or injury, such as a doctor's or hospital 'Fit Note'. If the request is for other reasons, such as bereavement, NPC reserves the right to request evidence in some circumstances, particularly where a Student is making, or has made, more than one request for a special consideration during the allotted time allowed for a single qualification or course.

8. Appeals

If Students wish to appeal against the decision by NPC or, where applicable, the awarding organisation, to decline requests for reasonable adjustments or special consideration arrangements, please refer to our Appeals Policy, available to download from our website at www.nalptraining.co.uk or by contacting 020 7112 8034.

9. Monitoring the Reasonable Adjustments and Special Considerations Policy

NPC will ensure that:

- Guidance from the Awarding Organisation or changes in regulation, legislation or other relevant industry standards are reviewed and the policy is updated to comply with best practice
- Information from monitoring activities is made available to the Awarding Organisation on request
- This policy is reviewed at least biennially or earlier as required
